

This professional development training provides teachers tools and strategies for cultural competency when teaching a diverse student population in their classrooms. These segments emphasize both the need for practical cultural competency effectiveness and classroom management skills and strategies to foster inclusion and learning for all students.

Topics to be discussed:

- Do we make an effort to learn about the cultures of our students?
- What makes our behavioral interventions feel discriminatory?
- Are our teaching styles adaptable to students of different cultures?
- How do we create a classroom of inclusion?
- How do we create a classroom where students are welcomed and invited to learn about other

Key takeaways:

- A plan to learn, welcome, and celebrate the ways other cultures communicate and work.
- An engaging pathway to encourage our parents into our classrooms.
- How to put an effective classroom behavior plan in place that understands and allows for cultural differences while still maintain expectations.
- A plan as to how to intervene and discipline students from other cultures other than our own respectfully and inclusively.
- How to modify our teaching styles to be more inclusive.
