TOOLS
FOR Success

Utilizing the standards each and every day are skills necessary to every successful teacher. With that in mind understanding the standards in usable language, creating a scope and sequence, and aligning measurable data to those standards is a completely different tool. And, often a tool that assumed to be used and often is not.

Topics to be discussed:

- What are the state standards?
- How do I find the state standards for discipline?
- How can I use the state standards to drive my curriculum by creating a scope and sequence?
- How do I use the standards as the “what” is taught in my classroom so that I can create the curriculum to fill in the “how” it is taught.

Key takeaways:

- A clear defined plan of what to teach in each classroom based on the standards.
- A scope and sequence that outlines the school year and what is to be taught each and every month.
- A clear plan measuring the standards by creating assessments and data points.
- A tool to be communicated to administration as well as other colleagues as to what is being taught in each classroom each year.

We customize our packages for each individual school district based upon their needs, their wants and their challenges.
