TOOLS
FOR Success

Every teacher has the desire to have meaningful group work with their students, yet; often, lacks the tools to really make it work. How are students assessed, how are all students held accountable, how to deal with conflict, how to manage time, how to create time urgency are all some of the questions/dilemmas that teachers face. These concerns regarding group work have many teachers giving up and not doing much group work at all. This professional development segment removes the fears and provides real hands on tools to make group work meaningful and beneficial for everyone.

Topics to be discussed:

- How to create group work that really works.
- How to create meaningful group work that holds all members of the group accountable. How to “survive” group work in a manner that benefits everyone.
- Why should classrooms include group work?
- What is “good” group work/what does that look like?
- When is group work appropriate, effective and meaningful?

Key takeaways:

- Group work outline.
- Manners in which to create groups that work.
- Rubrics for grading group work.
- How to define roles in group work that engages everyone.
- Protocol to effectively grade group work.
- How to communicate grading and group work with parents.

We customize our packages for each individual school district based upon their needs, their wants and their challenges.
